Dear ACFE Vancouver Chapter Members,

I trust this message finds you in good health and high spirits.

As we usher in the month of September, we find ourselves approaching the final quarter of the year 2023. We kindly invite you to register for our upcoming virtual event "Formalizing A Fraud Risk Management Program - Practical Strategies and Tactics," scheduled for Thursday, September 21st at 10:00 AM PST. For more details, please refer to the attached poster. During this session you will learn how to:

- Apply the basic principles of fraud risk and fraud risk management to develop an effective structure for your program.
- Examine and leverage available resources amongst the three lines of defence to effectively prioritize program implementation.
- Determine how to turn small wins into meaningful milestones, depending on where you start.

The ACFE Vancouver Chapter remains committed to enriching our members' knowledge base by offering concise and informative virtual sessions multiple times throughout the year, ensuring that our learning resources remain pertinent and up-to-date.

Furthermore, we are excited to announce an upcoming opportunity for both in-person and virtual learning experiences on Tuesday, November 21, 2023, in the metropolitan area of Vancouver. We encourage you to stay tuned for additional details regarding our lineup of speakers and thought-provoking topics, which will be unveiled in October.

We also still have several ACFE Items for sale as part of your continued financial donation support to the Ritchie-Jennings Memorial Scholarship program which provides an opportunity for students to advance their education and anti-fraud career paths. These items have also been discounted in price and are available to anyone while supplies last. Items include:

Your continued engagement and participation are greatly valued as we strive to enhance our collective understanding of fraud risk management and related disciplines.
